

Durs Grünbein

Declared Night - Poems

Sold to

Italy (Einaudi), Hungary (Jelenkor)

About

(German title: Erklärte Nacht)
ca. 152 pages
Clothbound
2002

Exploring the possibilities individuals have within the limits of their life-times and the confines of the big city as their living space – these have long since been themes that Grünbein addresses.

»Why are you here? gets up every morning with you. «

© Jürgen Bauer

His new poems, that are ordered under the chapter headings Poems out of time, New Histories and Treatise on Passing Time, he takes up these themes and slowly develops them into long poems and cycles.

Praise

»A poet who is frequently described as the best to emerge in Germany since the fall of the Berlin Wall.« The New York Review of Books

Durs Grünbein, born 1962 in Dresden, lives in Berlin.

Awards (Selection):

Peter-Huchel-Prize (1995)
Georg-Büchner-Prize (1995)
Friedrich Nietzsche-Prize
(2004)
Tomas-Tränströmer-Prize
(2012)