

Ulrich Beck, Elisabeth Beck-GernsheimThe Normal Chaos of Love

(German title: Das ganz normale Chaos der Liebe)
ca. 299 pages
Clothbound
2005

© Isolde Ohlbaum

Ulrich Beck (1944 - 2015) was Professor of Sociology at the Ludwig Maximilian University of Munich from 1992 to 2009 and Principal Investigator of the ERC project: »Methodological Cosmopolitanism – In the Laboratory of Climate Change«. He was British Journal of Sociology Visiting Centennial Professor at the London School of Economics and a professor at the Fondation Maison des Sciences de l'Homme, Paris. Among numerous other accolades and honours, he was awarded the Lifetime Achievement Award – For Most Distinguished Contribution to Futures Research der International

Sold to

English world rights (Polity), Spanish world rights (Paidós Ibérica), Chinese complex rights (New Century), Brazil (Vozes), Italy (Bollati Boringhieri), Korea (Saemulgyul), Poland (Lower Silesia Press), Slovenia (Ljubljana UP), Greece (Pedio), Turkey (Imge)

About

This is a brilliant study of the nature of love in modern society. Ulrich Beck and Elisabeth Beck-Gernsheim argue that the nature of love is changing fundamentally, creating opportunities for democracy or chaos in personal life. (book description of the English edition published by Polity Press)

Sociological Association at the 2017 World Congress of Sociology in Yokohama.

© Isolde Ohlbaum

Elisabeth Beck-Gernsheim is Professor of sociology at the University of Erlangen-
Nürnberg.